10 cm. of textual records

The series consists of two bound ledger books. The ledgers were most likely maintained in the office of the Tax Collector. The entries within the ledgers are arranged chronologically and reference a book number, plan number and lot number for each entry. Entries include the name of the property owner, the address, and amount of taxes in arrears, interest penalties, and total balance. When a balance was paid it was indicated with a check mark or a line drawn through the entry.
