151 Court Street North

Added to Register: June 28, 2010

Description:

Maudslay Court was the first apartment building in Port Arthur. It opened in 1914 with rent costing $35 per month. Port Arthur Ontario Developments Limited sold the apartment building to W. S. Tomlinson in 1951. Maudslay Court remains an apartment building to this day. Notable architectural features include the rusticated brick first storey, cut stone stringcourse between the first and second storey and prominent keystones on the large flat top windows. Maudslay Court also has numerous dentil-like projections on the roof which gives the building a castle like appearance. The name Maudslay Court appears on a sign above the main entrance in a unique art nouveau style of lettering.
