More widely remembered as the Doctor's Cottage, Dr. Harold resided here from 1931-1959 followed by Dr. Powell from 1959-2000. The one-and-a-half-storey Shingle style house is finished in stone and cedar shakes with contrasting red painted trimwork. The cross-gable roof features several gabled dormers and two stone chimneys. A two storey gabled tower made completely of mosaic patterned Vert Island sandstone decorates the façade standing semi-detached from the structure.
